GREAT GATHERING OF CATHOLICS IN OGDEN

Sunday, May 28, will be celebrated in Saint Joseph's church with ceremonies never before witnessed in Ogden, and the vicar-general will be rejoiced to see fulfilled one of his long-desired hopes—the observance here of the forty-hours' devotion.

A prominent Catholic makes this statement in explanation:

"It may be somewhat surprising to persons who have come to Utah from eastern states, to hear that this world-wide devotion has not been observed in the diocese. Many years ago, through the efforts of the deceased Father Scallon, it was held once in the old cathedral but there have existed in the diocese, conditions which did not render it always possible to conduct the services, and adhere to the rubrics attendant upon this most impressive and grace-bestowing practice, in a manner consistent with the great solemnity.

"Originating in Milan, Italy, in the early part of the sixteenth century, and first introduced in America by the saintly Bishop Newman of Philadelphia, in 1853, the forty hours' devotion, called 'quarant' ore,' is now almost generally observed in every diocese, and according to the original intention at the time of its institution, is so conducted that when the observance is concluded in one church, it is taken up in another, thus making the adoration continuous.

"The term forty hours,' marking the length of time during which the special devotion continues, is supposed to be so named in remembrance of the time Our Lord's body was in the tomb and it is said that in the Middle Ages, the blessed sacrament was placed in the Easter sepulchre.

"Pope Pius III in approving of this devotion, sets forth the special intentions for which the church prays—the concord of Christian princes, France, the enemies of our faith, the dreaded Turk, who in the heat of their presumptuous fury threaten slavery and devastation to all Christendom—that they may be overthrown by the right hand of the Almighty God.

"Does not our blessed Pontiff, Benedict XV, re-echo the heart-prayer contained in this proclamation of one of the earlier successors of Saint Peter? Was there ever a time when the world was so generally in need of God's assistance as it is in this awful conflict across the seas, and even in the unrealized persecution of God's priests and religious in our own fair American domains? Only the omnipotent hand of God can stay this universal warfare, this holocaust of life and liberty. For how many intentions, then, must Saint Joseph's parishioners intrust the God of battles, the Lord of Hosts during this blessed period, beginning May 28th and continuing until after the procession that concluded the solemn high mass on Tuesday morning.

"The rubrics of the church prescribe every detail of this solemn observance, notably the masses of exposition and deposition on the first and last days, and the mass proper on the intervening day.

"The celebrant of the solemn pontifical mass at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, the Right Reverend J. S. Glass, C. M. D. D., assistant priest, the Very Reverend P. M. Cushman, V. G., the pastor of Saint Joseph's, Ogden; deacon of honor, Reverend T. Rosser, S. M., vice president of All Hallows' college, Salt Lake City; sub-deacon of honor, Reverend Leo Marks, S. M., All Hallows college, Salt Lake City; deacon of the mass, Very Reverend George Rapier, S. M., president of All Hallows college, Salt Lake City; sub-deacon, Rev. John Lagan, Saint Joseph's church, Ogden, master of ceremonies, Reverend J. Smith, S. M., All Hallows college, Salt Lake City. The sermon will be preached by Reverend G. S. Rapier, S. M.

"Immediately after the mass, there will be, according to the rubric of the church, solemn procession of the most blessed sacrament, headed by the Society of the Children of Mary, the Holy Angels' society, the Holy Name society as cross bearers and acolytes, the clergy taking part in the ceremony, and the most blessed sacrament will continue throughout the entire day until midnight. There will be special devotions in the evening, and a sermon by Rev. T. Rosser, S. M. Monday morning, adoration will begin at 5 o'clock. At 9 o'clock, there will be a solemn
